Profile

Prashant Bhudwal is the Founder & CEO of Buddy and has spent the past decade building education companies. His work has been showcased at the OpenAI Codex Meetup and Microsoft LocalHost.

Before Buddy, he co-founded FalconAI, which built AI software for schools and teachers. He also founded Medal, which trained teachers and placed them with education-technology companies. He began his career on the founding team of Genius Learning Labs, which was later acquired by Schoolnet India. Over these years he has written curriculum, trained teachers, taught students and led software used by schools.

This mix of experience gives him a practical view of how AI is changing the way software is built, and how students should prepare for it.
